

High School News

Seniors Are Shooting for the Stars!

Ohio has never offered your child a better start on a college education. A College Credit Plus student enjoys the opportunity to pursue more challenging classes and explore college interests sooner. Your child can earn anywhere from a few college credits to more than a year's worth while still in high school. College Credit Plus can reduce your child's time in college and ease your family's higher education costs. The school counselor can tell you if your student qualifies.

Some typical yet interesting courses include the following:

American Government	Regional Geography	Child Development
Photoshop for Photographers	Personal Finance	College Algebra
IT Fundamentals	Life in the Universe	Nutrition for Healthy Life
Composition I and II	Intro to Sociology	Medical Terminology
Principles of Business	Spanish I and II	Beginning Japanese
European History	Computer Design	Intro to Philosophy
Introduction to Film	Calculus I and II	Comparative Politics
Plant Science	Law and Society

Also of note, we have quite a few high school students who are taking college-level courses at Columbus State Community College in an effort to earn high school and college credit simultaneously. Tuition is free if your student takes classes at an Ohio public college. (There may be modest fees for private college credit.) All public colleges and specific private colleges in Ohio are participating.

Seniors have been busy applying for colleges these last few weeks. Some colleges of note include

The Ohio State University
University of Cincinnati
Notre Dame University
University of Dayton
Howard University
Barnard College
University of Chicago
New York University
Xavier University

Capital University
Ohio University
Ohio Northern University
Kent State University
Spelman University
Case Western Reserve University
University of Pennsylvania
University of Washington
Denison University